and now, let's dim the lights, so I can show you computer slides and read the exact text of the slides to you.
Key Points

1) Small groups, problem based learning, and interactive approaches to education draw people in and make things more memorable.

2) Team Debriefs are effective and need to be positively oriented and well-facilitated—they are better received than preliminary didactic work almost all the time.

3) Early, often, positive interactions are key for developing an IP culture—social interactions are an important part of an IPE approach.

4) Support for and facilitation of student involvement helps increase sustainability of student organizations and reduces barriers to participation.

5) IPE & IPP are growing and the linkages need to be stronger; Faculty development is needed in both areas to expand the cadre of faculty who are IPE competent and to support innovative approaches to education.