

Medicine & Occupational Health

Maintains business integrity by protecting ExxonMobil employees and families from health threats, and shares information and expertise more broadly to drive lasting progress in global health

Provides occupational health services to employees and offers protection against both infectious and non-communicable diseases

Partners with agencies to support and develop novel solutions for health

Shares information and expertise with global stakeholders via forums including GHSA and the CDC

Partners & Priorities

Research & Development

Health Systems & Service Delivery

Next-Generation Leadership & Technical Training

Education & Awareness Campaigns

