Lessons from 2020

- Challenges in data infrastructure
- Incomplete data on race, ethnicity and other social identities
 - Erasure of populations
- Role of structural racism, community context and social drivers of health
- Limited data on community health resources outside of the health care system
- Critical role of engagement in a disaster
- Network of community service providers 'invisible' to healthcare and public health systems

Opportunities in PCOR next

- Data democratization
 - Data visualization
- Push for complete and accurate data on race and ethnicity
 - “small” population and disaggregation
 - Intersection of social identities
- Robust stakeholder engagement in defining strategic areas of research
- Make visible network of community service providers
- Mobile technology to collect person and community level data
- Integration of data on structural drivers of health
