

Inclusive Environments for Students and Faculty with Disabilities

- Disability exists in all racial, ethnic, and gender categories. Accessibility barriers impact members of all underrepresented groups.
- Making teaching and professional materials accessible and bringing curriculum in line with modern geoscience careers can all help improve retention of people with disabilities.

More from the International Association for Geoscience Diversity at theIAGD.org