

Charla Lambert, PhD
SACNAS President (2023-2024)

president@sacnas.org

clambert@cshl.edu

Multicultural Membership

SACNAS is an inclusive organization that honors its history and name by centering two of the most marginalized communities in U.S. science: Chicanos/Hispanics and Native/Indigenous Americans

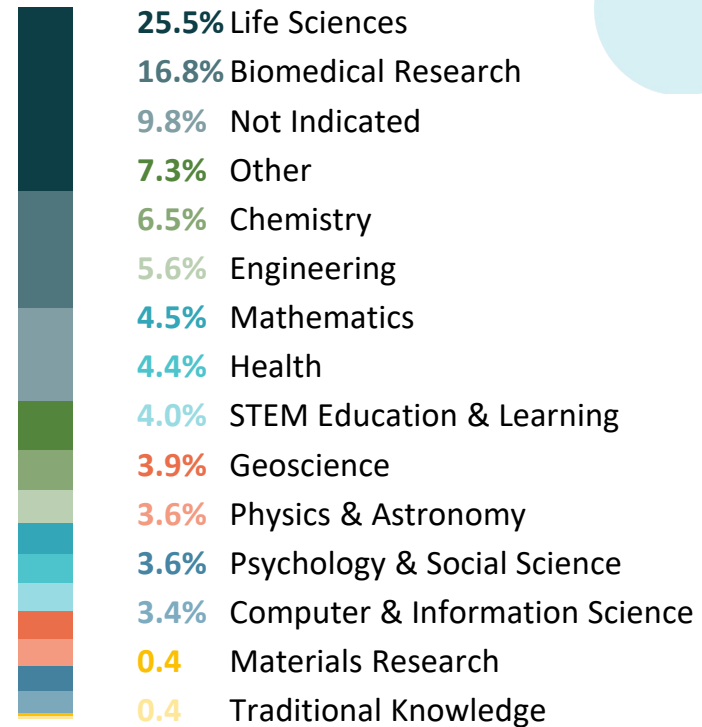

51%	Chicano/Hispanic/Latino(a/x/e)	7%	American Indian or Alaska Native
20%	White	1%	Middle Eastern or North African
9%	Asian	1%	Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander
8%	Black or African American	3%	Other

Multidisciplinary Membership

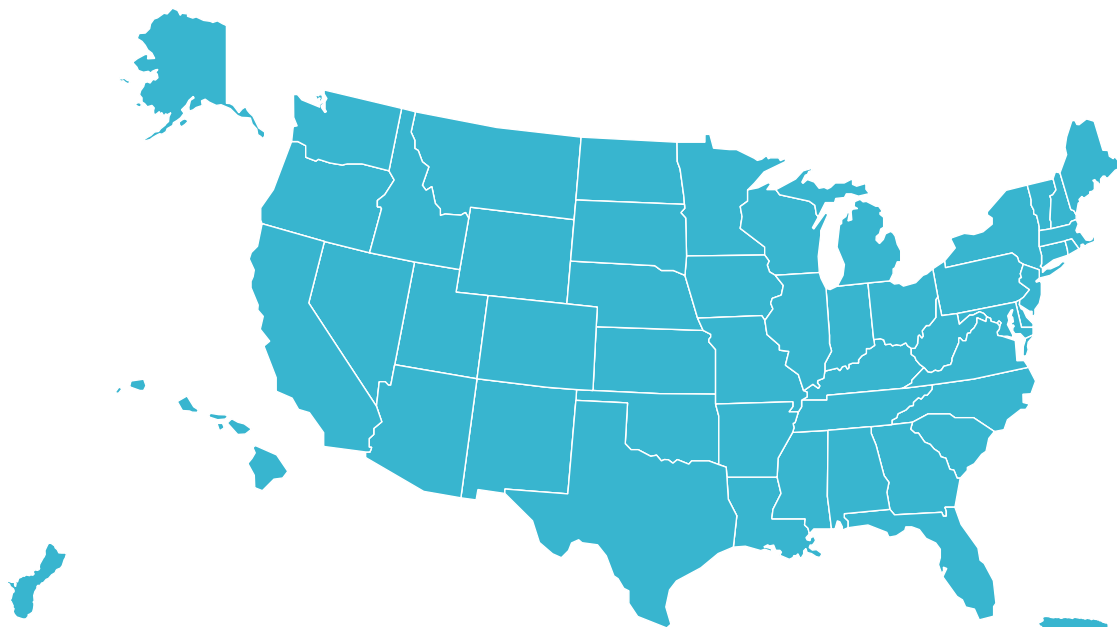

72% Students
28% Postdocs & Professionals

SACNAS Chapters: A National Network

150

chapters
across the nation, both student and professional

- Year-round, local support
- Leadership development
- Community engagement
- Chapter community gatherings

Signature Programs

Leadership

Linton-Poodry SACNAS
Leadership Institute (LPSLI)

Postdoc Leadership Institute
(PLI)

Chapter Officers Leadership
October Retreat (COLOR)

Native American & Indigenous

TCU Virtual Chapters

TCU Mini Conferences

Scholars in Science: Native
American Path (SSNAP)

Mentoring

Annual National Diversity in STEM (NDiSTEM) conference

CareerCon, for those interested in government and industry careers

CELEBRATION, NOT ASSIMILATION

There is a future where STEM reflects the demographics of our country, so the field is better equipped to solve our world's most pressing problems. Through our people, programs, and partnerships, SACNAS has taken a radical approach to lead with culture and identity as the means to achieve true diversity in STEM.

SCIENCE. CULTURE. COMMUNITY.

Thank you!

WEB:

SACNAS.org

EMAIL:

partnerships@SACNAS.org

exhibits@SACNAS.org

sessions@SACNAS.org

@SACNAS