Energy Poverty is widespread in Native American communities

Tribes are rejecting fossil fuel development on their homelands

Renewable energy is economically viable and ecologically imperative

Our Approach

The IEI team works shoulder-to-shoulder in Indigenous communities to build clean, regenerative energy systems.

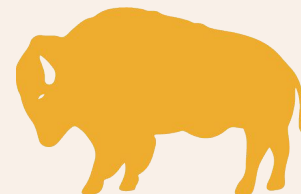

Trust

We partner with Tribal Communities to empower them with the skills and resources to build sustainable energy systems themselves.

Respect

We treat each relationship and energy initiative with care, respect and honor for Native culture, Mother Earth, and tribal wisdom.

Healing

Our work fosters hope in communities that have been ravaged by destructive and extractive colonial economic practices, racism, and oppression

Indigenous communities are standing up to the fossil regime and leading the way in the JUST TRANSITION to clean energy.
IEI stands with them.

Our Focus

Unleashing the power of clean energy, self-determination, and hope.

Energy Planning

IEI guides tribes in developing long term strategic energy plans in pursuit of clean and resilient energy systems.

Project Development

IEI supports tribes in developing innovative energy projects that are responsive to the unique needs of their community.

Building Capacity

Beyond technology, IEI is investing in people - through training programs, mentoring, and scholarships for tribal members.

IEI is a Native-led coalition of Indigenous leaders, energy industry experts and a growing community of Solar Warriors
