Roundtable on Obesity Solutions

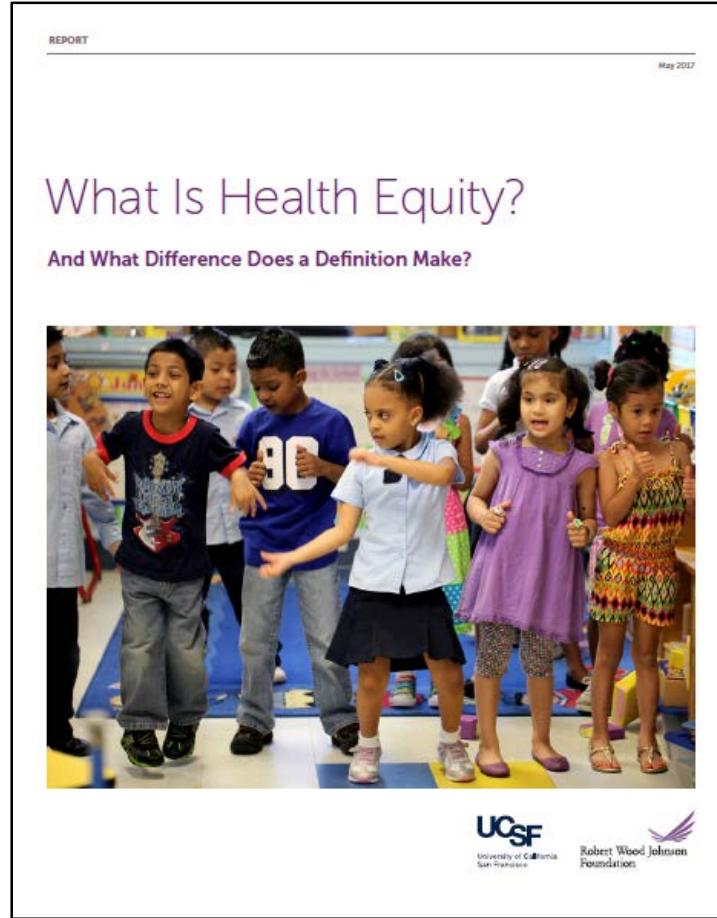

A Health Equity Approach to Obesity Efforts: Workshop Overview

Shiriki Kumanyika

Chair, Workshop Planning Committee

Why is obesity a health equity issue and what can we do about it?

Definitions

Health equity means that everyone has a fair and just opportunity to be as healthy as possible. This requires removing obstacles to health such as poverty, discrimination, and their consequences, including powerlessness and lack of access to good jobs with fair pay, quality education and housing, safe environments, and health care.

Disparities

For the purposes of measurement, health equity means reducing and ultimately eliminating disparities in health and its determinants that adversely affect excluded or marginalized groups.

Progress toward health equity is assessed by measuring how these disparities change over time, in absolute and relative terms. The gaps are closed by making special efforts to improve the health of excluded or marginalized groups, not by worsening the health of those who are better off.

Excluded or marginalized groups

Excluded or marginalized groups are those who have often suffered discrimination or been excluded or marginalized from society and the health-promoting resources it has to offer. They have been pushed to society's margins, with inadequate access to key opportunities. They are economically and/or socially disadvantaged.

Workshop Objectives - Consider...

- History of health equity issues in demographic groups who have above-average obesity risk.
- Principles and approaches to addressing these issues as part of obesity prevention and treatment efforts.
- Equity issues related to the creation, implementation, and evaluation of equity-oriented programs, policies, and systems changes, including those that affect opportunities for healthy eating and active living.
- Research needed to inform and mobilize equity-centered obesity prevention and treatment actions in the field.

Workshop Flow

Session 1 – Disparities in Obesity Prevalence – ethnic minority populations

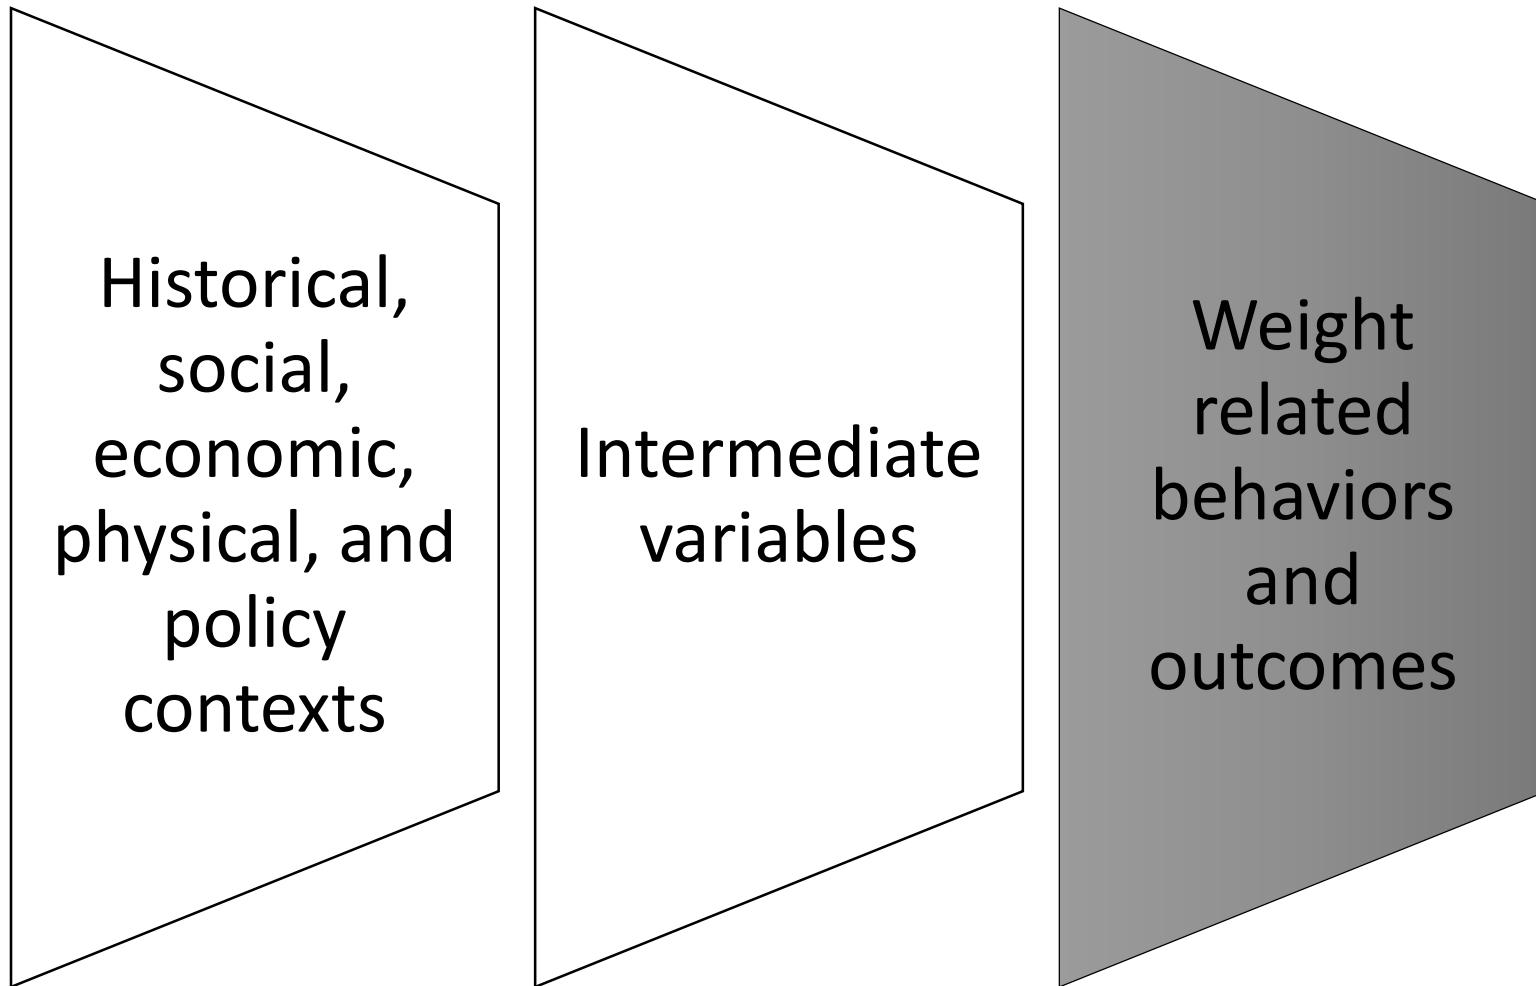

Session 2 – Social Determinants of Inequities in Obesity Prevention and Control

Session 3 – Lessons from the Field: Achieving Equity in Obesity through Community-Public Health Approaches

Session 4 – Lessons from the Field: Achieving Equity in Obesity Treatment in Health Care
