

Roundtable on Obesity Solutions

Defining Progress in Obesity Solutions through Structural Changes

A Third Workshop in the Series

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 2022

This workshop on Defining Progress in Obesity Solutions through Structural Changes will explore methods to assess progress in addressing the structural drivers of obesity (namely structural racism, biased mental models and social norms, and health communication) within different systems: political and economic systems, environmental systems, health care systems, and sociocultural systems. After setting the stage in examining the strengths and limitations of using BMI as a measure of success, invited speakers that work in these systems will discuss the innovative approaches and performance indicators they utilize to measure progress in obesity interventions. This will be the third and final workshop in the series, Translating Knowledge of Foundational Drivers of Obesity into Practice.

Established in 2014, the Roundtable on Obesity Solutions brings together diverse sectors and voices to solve the obesity crisis. Through meetings, public workshops, publications, and innovation collaboratives, the Roundtable fosters an ongoing dialogue on critical and emerging issues in obesity prevention, treatment, and weight maintenance. The Roundtable explores the science, evidence, evaluation, and innovation efforts that advance progress in reducing the impact of obesity, as well as applies effective equity strategies to address obesity-related disparities. Utilizing a policy, systems, and environmental change lens, the Roundtable explores and advances effective solutions.
