

Presenting a New Course, GENL355, at the Foundation for Advanced Education
in the Sciences (FAES.org)

Created and taught by
Claudia Gary

THE POETRY of SCIENCE

/ x x / x /
Shall I compare thee to...

x / / x x x / /
iamb trochee pyrrhic spondee

Time and Memory

How Poetry Activates the Whole Brain

How Meter and Rhyme Can Free the Unconscious

Metaphor as a Foundation of Learning

Prosody in Speech, Prose, & Poetry

Poetry vs. Trauma

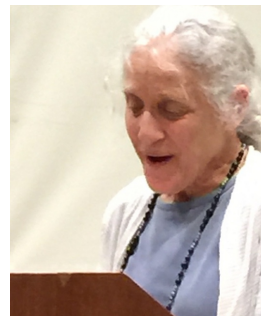

AND THE SCIENCE of POETRY

Claudia Gary

is a health and science journalist for VVA (yvaveteran.org)

and a poet whose work appears in anthologies and journals internationally.

Author of Humor Me (David Robert Books, 2006) and several chapbooks, she teaches workshops in poetic craft at The Writer's Center (writer.org). See pw.org/content/claudia_gary.

Twitter: @claudiagary

With thanks to Frederick Turner, Annie Finch, Frederick Feirstein, JoAnne Growney, Timothy Steele, Rosemary Badcoe, William Baer, Virginia Smith, Rick Mullin, & other poets & scientists.

