Speaker Biography

Abby Collier, DrPH, is currently the Director of the National Center for Fatality Review and Prevention at the Michigan Public Health Institute. She has been at the National Center for seven years, prior to which she led Wisconsin's Child Death Review and Fetal Infant Mortality Review program for eight years. Although she works across all aspects of the National Center's work, most of her time is spent providing technical assistance to states and collaborating with national partners. She has a doctorate degree in public health with a research focus on improving psychological safety in fatality review.
