Stand In The Future

To Shape Today's Defining Moments

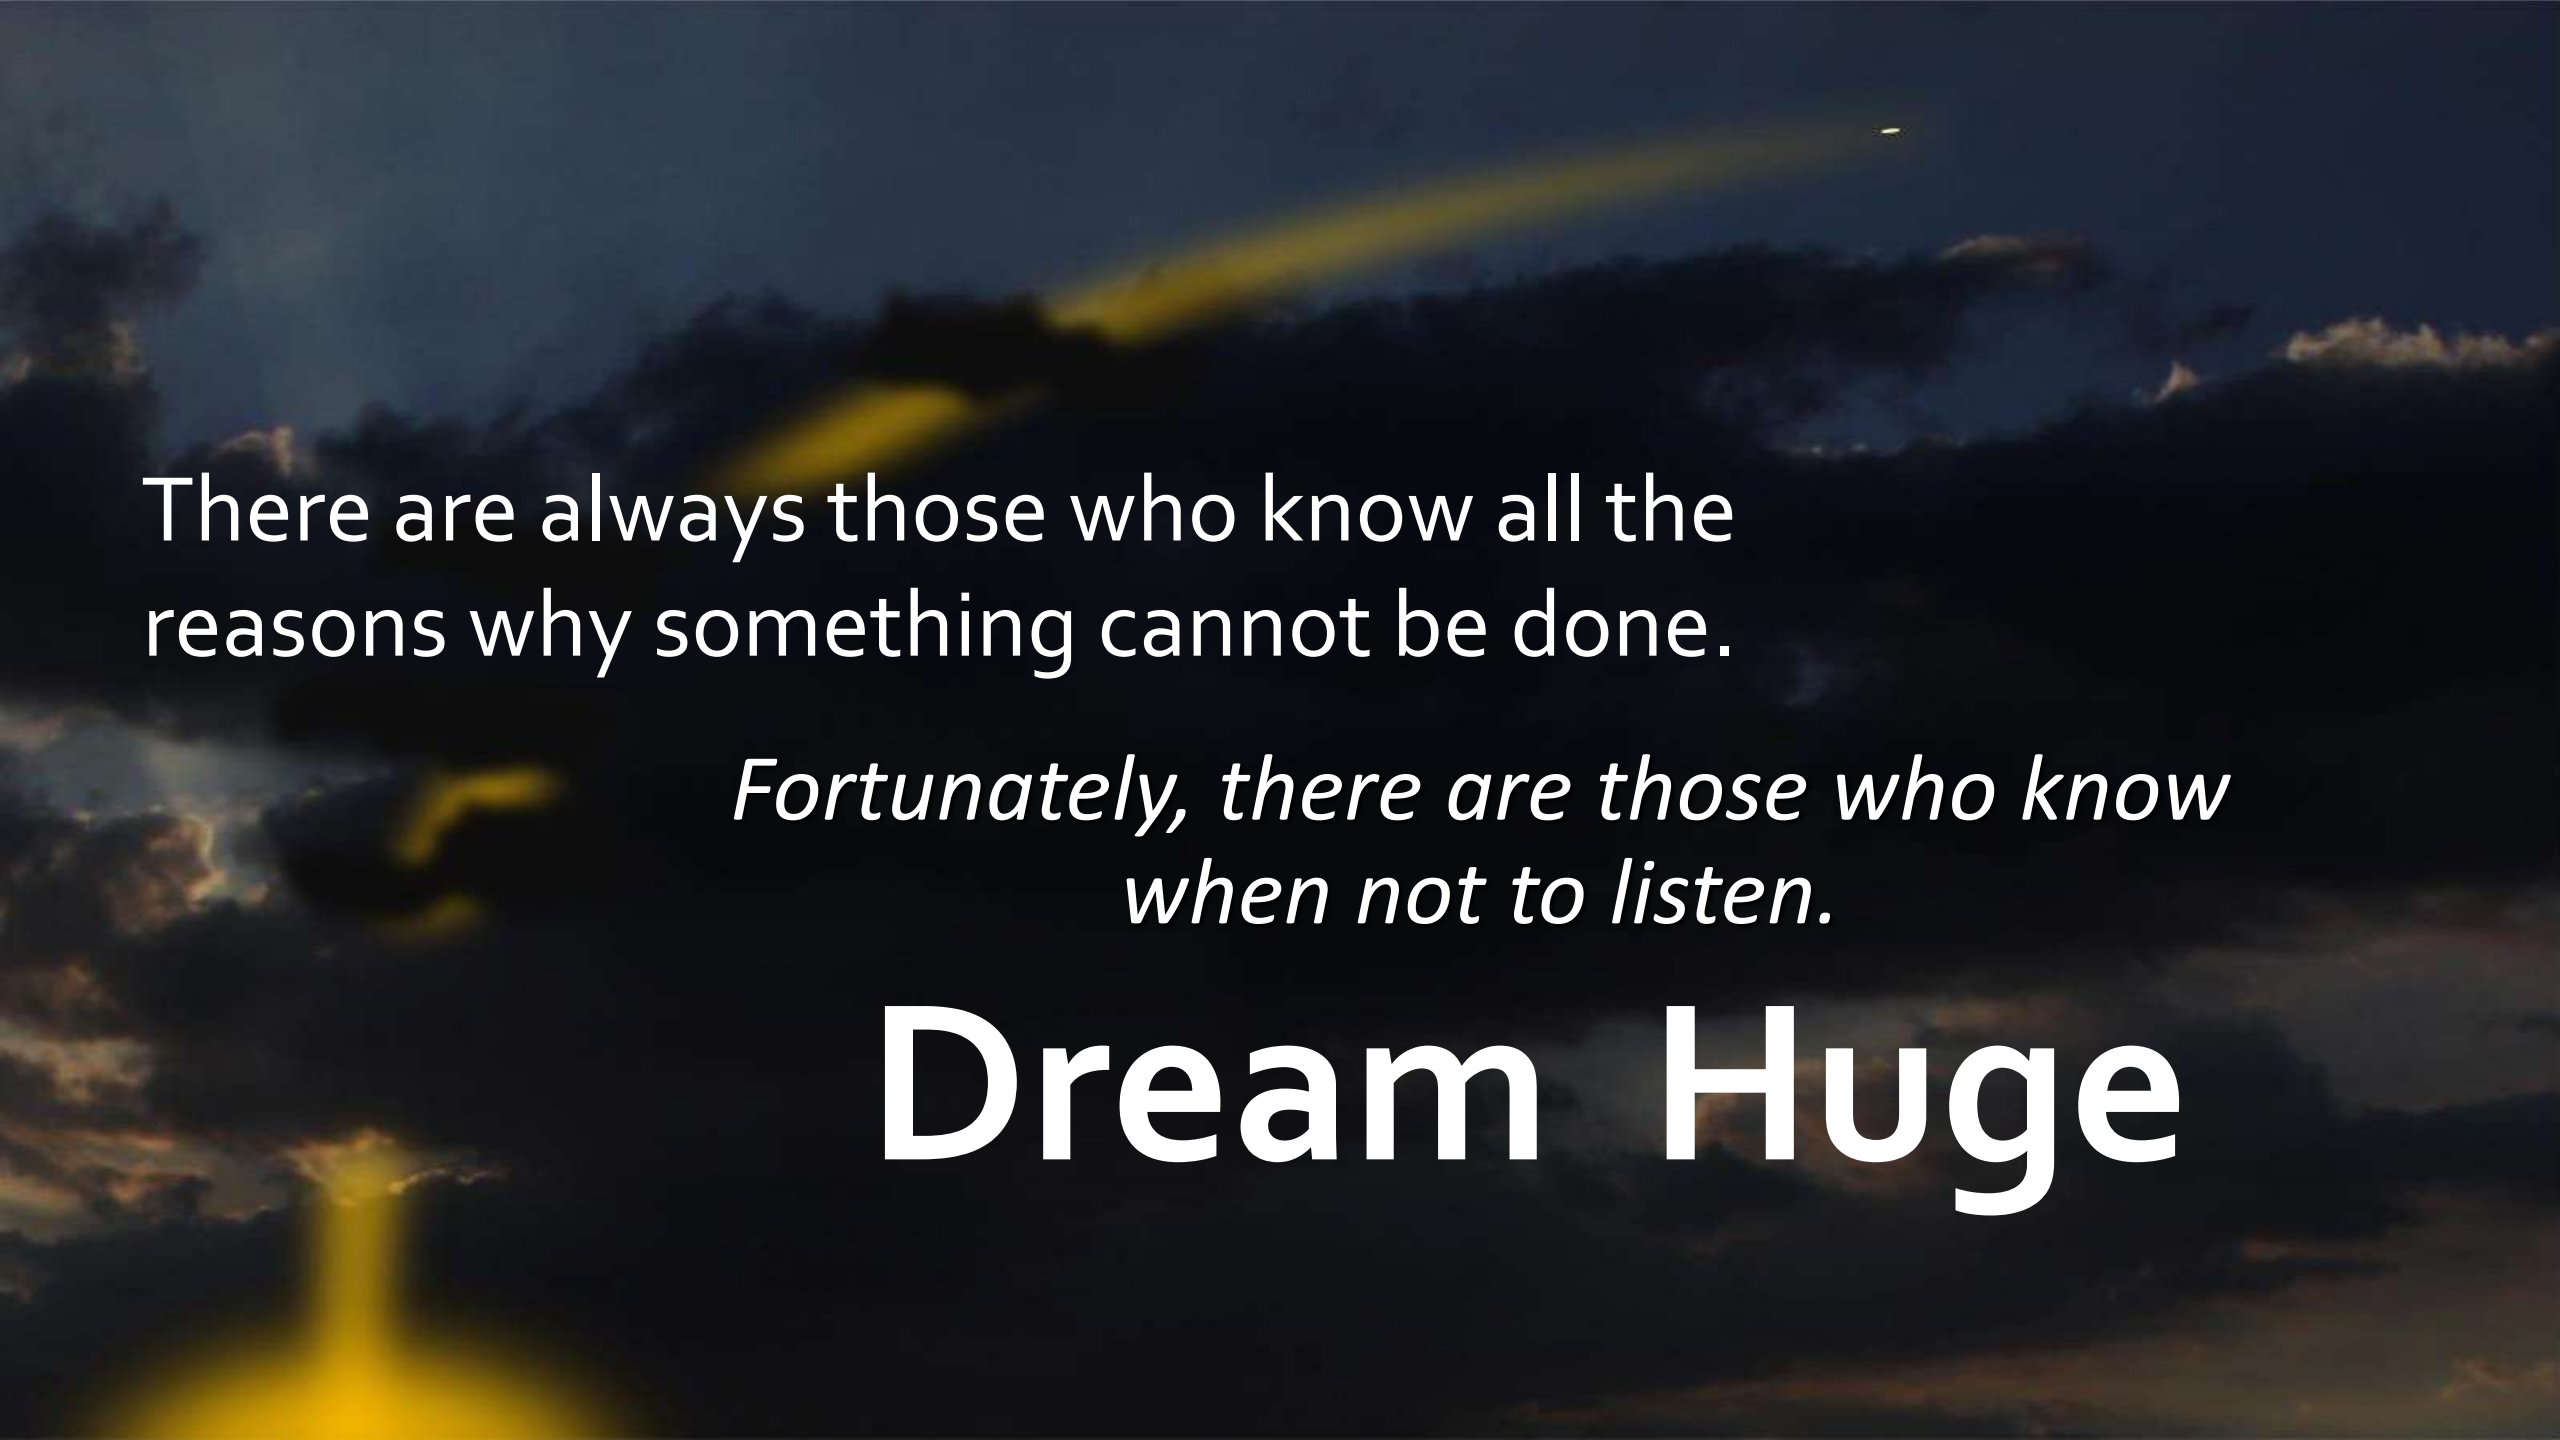

The background of the image is a dark, moody sky filled with heavy, swirling clouds. The colors range from deep navy blue to black, with some lighter, greyish-blue highlights where the clouds catch a bit of light, creating a sense of depth and movement. The overall atmosphere is somber and dramatic.

The universe is what it is.

Stuff we don't control will go wrong, so be disciplined in what can be controlled.

Keys To Realizing Breakthroughs

- Assess opportunities with a “future mind”
- Assume it can be done
- Aggressively decide what is important – the “needs”
- Tailor processes to the problem
- Involve only the necessary number of people
- Be a benefactor of experience, not a victim
- Make decisions to maintain momentum
- Take risks and assertively manage them
- Adapt to the inevitable surprises, be resilient in failure
- Ensure budgets and schedules are sacred, not suggestions

There are always those who know all the reasons why something cannot be done.

Fortunately, there are those who know when not to listen.
