Speaker Biographies

Lisa Butler

Lisa Butler is a mother to 4 young adults. Her oldest brought her to this work as they navigated nearly every child and family serving system. Lisa has over 20 years experiencing and navigating the system and accessing services and supports for children and families. She has her own lived experience in the adult system including being a part of the recovery community. Lisa has been with Oregon Family Support Network (OFSN) for 15 years. During her time with OFSN Lisa has done direct work with families, Statewide Wraparound training, and has managed different regions in the state. Currently Lisa serves as the Family Support Services Director, and loves the work they do supporting families. It is a gift to

Lisa to be able to come along side families and offer support from her own lived experiences while supporting families to be heard and understood, both in the system they are in involved with and in their communities.

Eboni S. Dabney

Eboni S. Dabney is a maternal mental health advocate and founder of A Mom Like Me Inc. Eboni is also a mother to three boys and advocates for the mental health of single mothers. She is passionate about her advocacy work and strives to empower others to find quality mental health care, no matter their backgrounds.

Keris Jän Myrick, MBA, MS, PhD

Keris Jän Myrick is a Vice President of Partnerships at Inseparable, Podcast host of Unapologetically Black Unicorns and serves on the Board of the Mental Health American (MHA) and the Disability Rights California (DRC). Ms. Myrick has over 15 years of experience in mental health services innovation, transformation, peer workforce development and authored peer reviewed articles and book chapters.

She held executive positions at local, federal, and national levels and was the Board President of NAMI. Ms. Myrick's work, research and advocacy has focused on lived experience, peer workforce, digital therapeutics, and race equity.

Ms. Myrick is a Certified Personal Medicine Coach, has a M.S. in organizational psychology from the California School of Professional Psychology of Alliant University and MBA from Case Western Reserve University's Weatherhead School of Management.

Audrey Levine

Audrey Levine is a proud member of Fountain House in New York City, a national mental health nonprofit founded for and by people living with serious mental illness. She joined the organization in 2017 and credits much of her recovery to Fountain House's pioneering clubhouse model, a holistic, community-driven approach to addressing serious mental illness that has been shown to improve health, increase opportunity, and reduce the social and economic isolation of its members. Since its founding more than 75 years ago, Fountain House's model of community mental health has been replicated in more than 200 clubhouses in the U.S. alone, transforming the recovery and thriving of generations of people.

Audrey serves on the faculty of Clubhouse International, where she helps accredit clubhouses both in the U.S. and abroad. She is also a member of the Clubhouse Advisory Council, a national committee of clubhouse members and staff who monitor policies, funding opportunities, and other developments that impact the wider clubhouse movement.

Laura Marshall

Laura Marshall resides in West Michigan with her husband and three boys. After experiencing years of struggle to find supports and services for her own family, she now works to support other families in Michigan experiencing similar challenges. Advocacy has become a passion for Laura. She invests time in continuing her education on innovations and different approaches to mental health care for children, youth, and family members, seeking best outcomes for all involved. During her opportunities for self-care, Laura enjoys gardening and reading.

Laura Van Tosh

Laura Van Tosh is a peer who has held policy positions at the National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors, University of Maryland, and the State of Oregon Health Authority. She is the founder of the Mental Health Policy Roundtable that met in Washington, D.C. and she started a local version of the policy roundtable in King County, WA. The roundtable brings newcomers and veterans of policy together in a neutral environment of learning. It is celebrating 25 years in 2023. Laura has written extensively about peer operated behavioral health care services and homelessness and has worked inside three state psychiatric hospitals. Her work is born from her experience as a patient turned activist and she has been involved with the peer movement since 1985. In December 2021, Laura was appointed to the Global Mental Health Peer Network (GMHPN) as a Country Executive Committee Member representing the United States. Laura has been recognized for her work in the behavioral health care field and in 2022, she was awarded a Lifetime Advocacy Award from the Judge David L. Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law. In 2023, Laura was presented with a Sally Zinman Lifetime Achievement Award from the Alliance for Rights and Recovery (formerly NYAPRS) for her leadership in advancing the recovery and rights of people with mental health and trauma-related challenges across our state and nation.

Committee Members

Daniel Polsky, PhD (Chair)

Daniel Polsky is the Bloomberg Distinguished Professor of Health Economics and Policy at Johns Hopkins University. He holds primary appointments in both the Department of Health Policy and Management, Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health and the Carey Business School. He was the Robert D. Eilers Professor at the Wharton School and the Perelman School of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania where he was faculty from 1996-2019. As the current Director of the Hopkins Business of Health Initiative and former executive director of the Leonard Davis Institute for Health Economics, Dr. Polsky has extensive experience in leading interdisciplinary teams advancing research to inform US health policy to address challenges of access, affordability, value, and equity. He is a member of the National Academy of Medicine. He was the senior economist on health issues at the President's Council of Economic Advisers. He received a Master of Public Policy degree from the University of Michigan in 1989 and a PhD in economics from the University of Pennsylvania in 1996.

London Breedlove, PsyD

Dr. L. Breedlove (they/them) is a licensed psychologist with over a decade of experience practicing, teaching, and program development with integrated behavioral health. Dr. Breedlove is the Director of Integrated Behavioral Health and Clinical Associate Professor in the Family Medicine Department (DFM) at University of Washington in Seattle, WA. They serve as the Co-Director of Education for the Osher Center of Integrative Health. They are a past Board of Trustees President for the Washington State Psychological Association (WSPA) (2019) and serve as the Washington's Council Representative to the American Psychological Association (APA) (2021- Present). Prior to joining the DFM, Dr. Breedlove was the Director of Clinical Training for doctoral internship and postdoctoral fellowship programs at Columbia Valley Community Health (CVCH), a Patient-Centered Medical Home and Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC) in Wenatchee, WA for seven years. Dr. Breedlove currently co-chairs a task force for the Washington State Psychological Association to address psychology trainee reimbursement in Washington as an avenue to fund psychology training and address behavioral health workforce shortages in the state.

Richard G. Frank, PhD

Richard G. Frank, PhD, is the Margaret T. Morris Professor of Health Economics emeritus at Harvard Medical School. He is a Senior Fellow in Economic Studies and Director of the Schaeffer Initiative on Health Policy at the Brookings Institution. From 2009 to 2011, he served as the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation at DHHS directing the office of Disability, Aging and Long-Term Care Policy. From 2014 to 2016 he served as Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation in the Department of Health and Human Services. His research is focused on the economics of mental health and substance abuse care, long term care financing policy, prescription drug markets, and disability policy. He was elected to the National Academy of Medicine in 1997. He is co-author with Sherry Glied of the book Better but Not Well (Johns Hopkins Press). Dr. Frank received his PhD in Economics from Boston University.

Marie Ganim, PhD

Dr. Marie Ganim is semi-retired, teaching health policy at Brown University and Northeastern University. She has over 35 years of experience leading health care reform initiatives at various levels and branches of government. The focus of her career and academic study has been on health care policy analysis, legislation, and implementation. For more than 20 years as a top advisor to the Rhode Island State Legislature, she participated in crafting most of the state's health-related laws and policies during that era. She later served (from 2017 to 2021) as the nation's only state Health Insurance Commissioner, a Governor's Cabinet role that is unique to the State of Rhode Island, combining both health regulation and policy authorities. She chaired the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' (NAIC) Working Group on Health Care Innovation from 2018-2021 and was a co-founder of the NAIC Behavioral Health Parity Working Group. During the crisis response to the COVID-19 pandemic, Ganim was actively engaged in eliminating state tele-health regulatory and payment constraints and facilitating increased private funding for Rhode Island's substance use and mental health clinicians and services to maintain access to care throughout 2020. Dr. Ganim serves as a volunteer advisory committee member for the Rhode Island Parity Initiative with the Mental Health Association of Rhode Island, in addition to serving as a volunteer board member for the PACE Organization of Rhode Island.

She holds a Master's Degree in Public Administration from Syracuse University and a PhD in Public Affairs from Northeastern University.

Cynthia Gillespie, MA

Cindy Gillespie retired from her position as Secretary of the Arkansas Department of Human Services in November of 2022. Prior to her appointment in 2016, Ms. Gillespie served as a Principal in the Washington D.C. office of Dentons' Public Policy and Regulation practice and a leader of the firm's Health Policy and Health Insurance Exchange Teams. Earlier in her career, she served as a senior advisor to then-Massachusetts Governor Mitt Romney where she oversaw the Romney administration's executive branch initiatives and helped develop the state's health reforms. She has served on boards overseeing state government employee health plans, a health insurance marketplace, and the NASEM Board on Health Care Services. For the past twenty years, Ms. Gillespie has focused on health policy and innovations in coverage and insurance models, particularly for lower-income and special populations. As Secretary in Arkansas, she oversaw a significant state-wide expansion of mental health services provided through Medicaid, with the goal of ensuring access to a robust continuum of services in both rural and urban settings. Ms. Gillespie is a graduate of Auburn University with an MA in organizational communication.

Christina L. Goe, JD

Christina Lechner Goe is an attorney with extensive experience in health insurance regulation and health care law. She is a member of the bar in California (1980 - present [inactive]) and Montana (1995 to the present). Ms. Goe worked as chief legal counsel and general counsel for the Montana Department of Securities and Insurance from 1999 - 2017. She was also active on several committees at the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC), including as chair of the ERISA Working Group and vice-chair of the Regulatory Framework Task Force. Beginning in 2010, she worked exclusively on implementing state and federal health insurance laws, including HIPAA, the Affordable Care Act, and the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act. In 2017, Ms. Goe established a solo law practice, focusing on state and federal health insurance law and other issues relating to health care delivery reform. She has consulted on or co-authored issue briefs and articles relating to mental health parity enforcement. Ms. Goe currently serves on the board of Mountain Health Co-Op.

She was the recipient of the Montana Governor's Award for Excellence in 2014 and 2016. She has a B.A. in history from Stanford University and a JD from Santa Clara University Law School.

Jennifer Kelly, PhD

Jennifer F. Kelly, PhD is the 2021 Past President of the American Psychological Association. She is Board Certified in Clinical Health Psychology and is the director of the Atlanta Center for Behavioral Medicine in Atlanta, Georgia. Her primary APA presidential initiative focused on psychology's role in achieving health equity. In 2019, she served as Co-Chair of the Advocacy Coordinating Committee of the American Psychological Association Services, Inc. She served on the Board of Directors as Recording Secretary for APA from 2013-2018. Prior to that, she served on the Board as a member-at-large. A past president of the Georgia Psychological Association, Dr. Kelly currently serves as the Federal Advocacy Coordinator of the Association.

Dr. Kelly has been recognized for her advocacy on behalf of psychology, including recognition by the APA Services, Inc. Practice Leadership Conference in 2019, for her leadership in advancing the profession of psychology through Federal Advocacy, Legislative Award of the Georgia Psychological Association in 2000, the 2011 State Leadership Award, Karl F. Heiser Advocacy Award, and the Federal Advocacy Award by the APA Practice Organization in 2004. Dr. Kelly received her PhD in Clinical Psychology from Florida State University.

Parinda Khatri, PhD

Dr. Parinda Khatri is Chief Executive Officer at Cherokee Health Systems (CHS). Dr. Khatri is a licensed clinical psychologist with over 25 years of experience in clinical practice, training and education, research, and administrative leadership in behavioral health. Prior to her role as CEO, she was the Chief Clinical Officer at the organization, where she provided guidance on clinical quality, program development and management, workforce development, clinical research and operations for blended primary care and behavioral health services.

Dr. Khatri is on the Advisory Council for the National Integration Academy for the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ), as well as the Clinical Advisory Committees for Amerigroup and BlueCare of Tennessee. She is also on the National FQHC Advisory Board for United Healthcare, Board of Directors for Advocates for Community Health (ACH), Board of Directors of the Tennessee Association of Mental Health Organizations, and the Board of Directors for Clinicians for the Underserved. Dr. Khatri was recognized with the Don Bloch Award in 2020 by the Collaborative Family Healthcare Association, the Cynthia Belar Award for Excellence for Education and Teaching by the Society of Health Psychology, and the Susan P. Smith Award of Excellence by the Tennessee Primary Care Association. Dr. Khatri received her PhD in Clinical Psychology at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Benjamin F. Miller, PsyD

Dr. Benjamin F. Miller, PsyD, is the past president of Well Being Trust, a national foundation dedicated to advancing the mental, social, and spiritual health of the nation. Over the last two decades, Dr. Miller has worked tirelessly to prioritize mental health in our policies, programs, and investments. A clinical psychologist by training, Miller works at the intersection of policy and practice, ensuring that mental health and addiction is prioritized across America. His primary professional and research experience has been on the integration of mental health into both community and health care settings. He has published prolifically on the topic of mental health and primary care integration and is seen as subject matter expert for mental health.

Dr. Miller serves as the Advisory Chair to Inseparable, Inc., a nonprofit organization working in mental health and on the Board of Directors for Mental Health Colorado and the Policy Center for Maternal Mental Health. He is also a consultant focused on issues of mental health parity in Connecticut with Acumen. Dr. Miller is on the faculty at the Institute of Healthcare Improvement and is an adjunct professor at Stanford School of Medicine. Dr. Miller has participated in several NASEM efforts, including as a member of the Forum on Mental Health and Substance Use Disorders and a co-chair for the NASEM workshop on Innovative Data Science Approaches to Assess Suicide Risk in Individuals, Populations & Communities: Current Practices, Opportunities, and Risks. Dr. Miller received his Doctorate in Clinical Psychology at Spalding University.

Douglas Olson, MD

Dr. Douglas (Doug) Olson is an internal medicine and addiction medicine physician. Dr. Olson most recently served as the Chief Medical Officer for the country's Medicaid Program at The Center for Medicaid and Medicaid Services (CMS) in Washington, DC. While at CMS, he worked primarily on mental health and substance use treatment initiatives. He is the medical director of HAVEN, Connecticut's Physician Health Program, remains clinically active working at a community health center, and is President of the Board of Directors of the Association of Clinicians for the Underserved. He was a National Health Service Corps scholar and is a fellow of the American College of Physicians, the American Society of Addiction Medicine, and is an American Academy of HIV Medicine Specialist. As an administrator and clinician, his career has been dedicated to improving the health of our country's workforce and that of underserved populations. Dr. Olson graduated from George Washington University School of Medicine and completed his residency and chief residency in internal medicine at Yale.

Sally Raphel, MS, APRN-PMH, FAAN

Sally Raphel has been a practicing nurse for 62 years and retired from teaching in 2016 from Johns Hopkins School of Nursing. She is presently the Associate Editor for Archives Journal of Psychiatric Nursing. Ms. Raphel started the Child Sexual Abuse clinic at the University of Maryland in the 1980's and served as Director of the American Nurses Association Policy, Practice and Economics Department for 11 years. Ms. Raphel ran the WHO Collaborating Center for Mental Health Nursing at the University of Maryland School of Nursing and worked with countries in South and Central America. She served as the President of the Baltimore Mental Health Leadership Institute and served on the Board of ISPN. Joshua Seidman, PhD

Dr. Joshua Seidman is Chief Research & Knowledge Officer at Fountain House, a national mental health not-for-profit organization fighting to improve health, increase opportunity, and end social and economic isolation for people living with serious mental illness. He is trained academically as a health services researcher and strongly believes in complementing that with human-centered design approach in advancing new models of care. Dr. Seidman previously launched and led Avalere's Center for Payment & Delivery Innovation. Dr. Seidman oversaw quality and performance improvement at Evolent Health. He served as Director of Meaningful Use for the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services where he was responsible for the Office of the National Coordinator for health IT's policy development around the meaningful use of electronic health records and e-quality measures. Previously, Dr. Seidman was the founding President of the Center for Information Therapy, which advanced the practice and science of using health IT to deliver tailored information to consumers to help them make better health decisions. Dr. Seidman also served as Director of Measure Development at NCQA. Dr. Seidman received his PhD and MHS from Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health and his BA from Brown University.

Marylou Sudders, MSW

Marylou Sudders is currently a senior policy advisor at Smith, Costello & Crawford, a premier public policy law firm and a trustee of a charitable fund that invests in children's mental health in Massachusetts. In 2023, she stepped down after serving the full eight-year term of Massachusetts' Governor Charlie Baker administration as Secretary of Health & Human Services. She oversaw 12 agencies including the MassHealth program, chaired the state's insurance marketplace and numerous commissions. During that time, she also led the state's response to COVID-19. As secretary, she invested heavily in improving access for behavioral health care, advocating for stronger consumer insurance protections, implementing telehealth, and developing strategies to address current work force challenges. An expert in behavioral health, she has worked to pass significant legislation on behavioral health care and insurance coverage, child welfare reform and gun safety. She has worked in both the public and private sectors, including serving as Commissioner of Mental Health in Massachusetts, associate professor and department chair at Boston College School of Social Work, a non-profit CEO, as well as a consultant with the US Department of Justice. Sudders received her MSW from Boston University and holds three honorary doctorates, plus is the recipient of numerous civic, social work and professional honors, including the Knee/Wittman Outstanding Achievement Award from the NASW Foundation.

Rachel Talley, MD

Rachel Talley, M.D. is Assistant Professor of Clinical Psychiatry in the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania. She is Director of the Department's Fellowship in Community Psychiatry and Associate Program Director for the Department's adult psychiatry residency program. Dr. Talley serves on the Board of the American Association for Community Psychiatry and is a member of the National Council for Mental Wellbeing's Medical Director Institute. She works clinically in community-based settings providing care to publicly insured patients with severe mental illness. She has contributed to several nationally disseminated quality improvement frameworks to advance integration of physical and behavioral health services, including co-authorship and participation on expert panels. Dr. Talley is on the scientific advisory board for Vanna Health, and is a co-editor for a journal column in Psychiatric Services called Controversies in Psychiatric Services.

She has been recognized for her teaching and leadership in community mental health, including receipt of the University of Pennsylvania Department of Psychiatry's Albert Stunkard Faculty Recognition Award for the past three consecutive years (2021, 2022, 2023); and receipt of the 2021 Larry A. Real Award from the Montgomery County PA chapter of the National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI). Dr. Talley received her BA from Harvard University and her M.D. from Stanford University School of Medicine. She completed both her residency training in adult psychiatry and public psychiatry fellowship at Columbia University/New York State Psychiatric Institute.

John Torous, MD, MBI

Dr. John Torous is the Director of the Digital Psychiatry Division, in the Department of Psychiatry at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center (BDIMC), a Harvard Medical School affiliated teaching hospital, where he also serves as a staff psychiatrist and assistant professor. At a system level, Dr. Torous is the medical director of behavioral health informatics for Beth Israel Lahey Health. Dr. Torous is active in investigating the potential of mobile mental health technologies for psychiatry and has published over 250 peer reviewed articles and 5 book chapters on the topic. He directs the Digital Psychiatry Clinic at BIDMC which seeks to improve access to and quality of mental health care through augmenting treatment with digital innovations. Dr. Torous serves as editor-in-chief for the journal JMIR Mental Health, web editor for JAMA Psychiatry, and is the immediate past chair of the American Psychiatric Association's Health IT Committee. He has served on NRC panels on Veterans Health in the past year.

He has a background in electrical engineering and computer sciences and received an undergraduate degree in the field from UC Berkeley before attending medical school at UC San Diego. He completed his psychiatry residency, fellowship in clinical informatics, and master's degree in biomedical informatics at Harvard University.

Jane Zhu, MD, MPP, MSHP

Dr. Jane Zhu is a primary care physician and associate professor of medicine in the Division of General Internal Medicine at Oregon Health & Science University. Dr. Zhu's broad research interests relate to access to care, as well as the role of provider incentives and organization of care on health care delivery. Her research program has focused extensively on mental/behavioral health services, including 1) how mental health provider networks (the sets of providers with which managed care insurers contract to deliver services) impact access to care and clinical outcomes; 2) how to measure and monitor network adequacy; and 3) understanding levers that improve mental health workforce participation and patient access in public insurance programs. Funded by foundation grants and the National Institutes of Health, her work has been published in high-impact journals, including NEJM, JAMA, and Health Affairs; cited in government and legislative reports; and widely reported in the media. Dr. Zhu previously served as an advisor of clinical analytics and evaluation for Omada Health.

Dr. Zhu received her BS from Duke University, where she was named a Fulbright Scholar, and her MD and MPP from Harvard. She completed internal medicine residency training at the University of California, San Francisco, and completed fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania as a National Clinician Scholar.

Marc Meisnere, MHS

Marc Meisnere, M.H.S., is a senior program officer on the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine's Board on Health Care Services. He is currently the project director for the Standing Committee on Primary Care and was study director for Achieving Whole Health: A New Approach for Veterans and the Nation (2023) and Implementing High-Quality Primary Care: Rebuilding the Foundation of Health Care (2021). Since 2010, Mr. Meisnere has worked on a variety of National Academies consensus studies and other activities that have focused on mental health services for service members and veterans, suicide prevention, primary care, and clinician well-being. Before joining the National Academies, Mr. Meisnere worked on a family planning media project in northern Nigeria with the Johns Hopkins Center for Communication Programs and on a variety of international health policy issues at the Population Reference Bureau. He is a graduate of Colorado College and the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.

Abigail Godwin, MPH

Abigail Godwin (she/her) received her Bachelor of Science from Sam Houston State University in Public Health and more recently her Master of Public Health with a concentration in health policy and law from Boston University. While in Boston, she worked in Massachusetts State Senator John Kennan's office focusing on housing and substance use interventions. She worked on a campaign centered around increasing Medicare and Medicaid spending to enhance the state's long-term services and care with the non-profit, Mass Senior Action Council as well. She previously worked as Special Assistant to the Director of the DC office at the Brennan Center for Justice where she managed the legislative team that worked closely on the Hill. She coordinated multiple events on and off the Hill centered around voting rights, misinformation, criminal justice, and government transparency.

Emma Rooney, BS

Emma Rooney is a Research Assistant at the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, where she specifically works within the Board on Health Care Services and the Board on Global Health. Her most recent work at the Academies has included workshops such as Supporting and Sustaining the Current and Future Workforce to Care for People with Serious Illness and Improving Access to High-Quality Mental Health Care for Veterans. She was formerly a Senior Program Assistant at the Academies, and has previously worked as both a Research Assistant and Department Projects Coordinator at George Washington University. Emma earned her B.S. in Biological Sciences with a concentration in Cellular and Molecular Biology and a minor in Public Health from the George Washington University.

Joe Goodman, BS

Joe Goodman is a Senior Program Assistant at the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine. Having been with the Academies since 2007, Joe has extensive experience with working on several studies and workshops. Some of his recent work at the Academies has included workshop series such as Accelerating the Use of Findings from Patient-Centered Outcomes Research in Clinical Practice to Improve Health and Health Care. Joe earned his Bachelor of Science in Music Education from Frostburg State University.

Sharyl J. Nass, Ph.D.

Dr. Nass serves as Senior Director of the Board on Health Care Services and Director of the National Cancer Policy Forum at the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine. To enable the best possible care for all patients, the board undertakes scholarly analysis of the organization, financing, effectiveness, workforce, and delivery of health care, with emphasis on quality, cost, and accessibility. The forum examines policy issues pertaining to the entire continuum of cancer research and care. For more than two decades, Dr. Nass has worked on a broad range of health and science policy topics that includes the quality, safety, and equity of health care and clinical trials, developing technologies for precision medicine, and strategies to support clinician well-being. She has a Ph.D. from Georgetown University and undertook postdoctoral training at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, as well as a research fellowship at the Max Planck Institute in Germany. She also holds a B.S. and an M.S. from the University of Wisconsin–Madison. She has been the recipient of the Cecil Medal for Excellence in Health Policy Research, a Distinguished Service Award from the National Academies, and the Institute of Medicine staff team achievement award (as team leader).
