

Webinar on Advancing High-Quality Science Journalism: Challenges and Pathways Forward

Resources Shared by Panelists

Resources Shared by Tracy Baim, Press Forward Chicago

- Mississippi Ag & Water Project: <https://agwaterdesk.org/>
- Press Forward Chicago shared services report: <https://www.cct.org/wp-content/uploads/2025/06/Press-Forward-Chicago-Assessment.pdf>
- LGBTQ+ Local Media Mapping Project: <https://newsisout.com/lgbtq-media-mapping/>
- The Rise of Creator-Model Journalism: <https://newsletter.projectc.biz/p/the-rise-of-creator-model-journalism-5-things-every-pr-pro-needs-to-know-fe55>

Resources Shared by Siri Carpenter, The Open Notebook

- About The Open Notebook: <https://www.theopennotebook.com/about-the-open-notebook/>
- U.S. degree programs (and university courses) in science, health or environmental writing: <https://www.theopennotebook.com/u-s-degree-programs-in-science-health-or-environmental-writing/>
- The Science Reporting Navigator—a free tool to help journalists on any beat incorporate scientific evidence into their work: <https://www.theopennotebook.com/science-reporting-navigator/>
- TON and SciLine’s Science Reporting Quick Tips series for local reporters: <https://www.theopennotebook.com/science-reporting-quick-tips/>
- Workshops, courses, and trainings (a list curated by The Open Notebook): <https://www.theopennotebook.com/resources-we-like/>
- Starter set of source databases (emphasis on finding sources from diverse communities): <https://www.theopennotebook.com/finding-diverse-sources-for-science-stories/#:~:text=Search%20Diversity%20Databases>
- SciLine: <https://www.sciline.org/>
- Covering Science Slack community for local journalists: <https://www.theopennotebook.com/covering-science-peer-mentoring-community/>
- Uproot: <https://uprootproject.org/>
- Covering Climate Now: <https://coveringclimatenow.org/>

The listed resources were shared by the speakers of the webinar on Advancing High-Quality Science Journalism: Challenges and Pathways Forward, held on November 13, 2025. The content present in these resources is not endorsed by and does not necessarily represent the views of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine. All links are active and correct at the time of posting.

Webinar on Advancing High-Quality Science Journalism: Challenges and Pathways Forward

Resources Shared by Panelists

Resources from Tim Franklin, Northwestern University Medill School of Journalism

- The Medill Local News Initiative: <https://localnewsinitiative.northwestern.edu>
- 2025 State of Local News Report: <https://localnewsinitiative.northwestern.edu/projects/state-of-local-news/2025/>
- The Medill Local News Accelerator: <https://localnewsinitiative.northwestern.edu/projects/local-news-accelerator/>

Resources From Duy Linh Tu, Columbia Journalism School

- Columbia Journalism School and Columbia Mailman School of Public Health - Schools working together on “The Scientist and the Storyteller” workshop: <https://www.publichealth.columbia.edu/academics/non-degree-special-programs/professional-non-degree-programs/skills-health-research-professionals-sharp-training/trainings/scientist-storyteller>

The listed resources were shared by the speakers of the webinar on Advancing High-Quality Science Journalism: Challenges and Pathways Forward, held on November 13, 2025. The content present in these resources is not endorsed by and does not necessarily represent the views of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine. All links are active and correct at the time of posting.